

Partnering Opportunities Through Sterling Ledet & Associates

Subsidizing a Structured Employee Training Program

Business leaders recognize the benefits of well-trained employees, but often they find that people don't put forth their best effort unless they have personal investment.

We offer an easily implemented program where employers and employees split the investment for employee training.

Features of this program include:

Employers split the training investment (75-25 or 50-50) with their employees.

Free marketing literature and class outlines for distributing to employees or posting on bulletin boards or company intranets.

Free assistance in implementation including customized registration/approval forms and a training policies document.

Let Sterling Ledet & Associates assist you in implementing a structured and effective employee training policy.
